

Attend a Free Energy Conservation Seminar and Keep Your Electric Bills Down

SMECO is committed to helping our residential customer-members keep their electric bills as low as possible. In this time of increasing heating and cooling fuel costs, we are offering a free energy efficiency seminar to our customers.

Seminars will cover a number of topics to help you use energy more efficiently. Topics will include energy use in the home, heating/cooling system operation, lighting efficiency options, appliance operation costs, how to reduce energy consumption, getting ready for summer energy use, and energy myths and truths.

Spaces are available on a first-come, first-served basis, so don't delay—reserve your seat today by calling 1-888-440-3311, extension 4361. Dates, times, and locations are on the back of this card.
